

PT Jewish Educator (33 Sunday Mornings during school term-time)

New London Synagogue (www.newlondon.org.uk) is looking for Jewish educators to join our Sunday Cheder team from September 2017.

We are particularly keen to hear from those with a passion for teaching Judaism through hands-on projects including music, art and theatre.

We want educators who can use their own strengths and passions to inspire. You will be a mensch but also professional, organised, energetic & enthusiastic. You will have a drive for empowering young people - giving them the enthusiasm to take ownership of their religious and cultural Jewish inheritance.

Working with our Head of Cheder, David-Yehuda Stern you will be responsible for the preparation and delivery of our innovative curriculum. For example; a key part of the year will be our four-week Tanakh Intensive - where students will encounter stories through different, age-appropriate, student-selected styles of learning.

We are looking for educators to work with a variety of ages between 4-11. To find out more, please be in touch with David-Yehuda on youth@newlondon.org.uk. To submit a formal application please send a letter and CV to Jo Velleman director@newlondon.org.uk.

All Cheder staff will need DBS clearance to work with Youth and comply with the community's policies regarding Health and Safety and Child Protection.

Closing date for applications: Friday 30th June, we are prepared to interview and offer positions before this date to the right candidates. Early applications strongly encouraged.
